Dance at New Campus Features Norval Knight's 'Killarney' Music

Sure, 'n Begorrah, all the green blooded Irishmen will be dancing at "Killarney" St. Patrick's Eve from 9 to 1. First informal dance at the new campus, featuring an eight-foot shamrock, claimed to be the largest of its kind in the world—"Killarney" is being presented by the Class of '54.

Norval Knight and his orchestra will lead all the lads and lassies through their sets, reels and quadrilles. In proper "Killarney" style, the boys should be attired in suits, and the colleens in dresses. No corsages are to be worn.

Dance chairman Len Flynn (freshman class president) is assisted by chairman of the budget, Bob Duray and Ernie Demattei, facilities chairman.

Chris Bianco and her decoration committee have transformed the women's gym into a leprecon's paradise.

Punch will be served by the refreshment committee, headed by chairman Yvonne Milkovich.

Other chairmen for the affair include Dolores Des Champs, invitations; Ethel Ramstad, host and hostess; and floor chairman, Adrienne Hoffine.

Bob Watt heads the check room committee. Watt is also in charge of ticket sales and the door Saturday night.

Sponsors for the dance are Mr. David Freeman, Dr. Gary Mills, and Dr. Herman Zaiman.

Other honored guests to be present include Dr. and Mrs. J. Paul Leonard, Dean Mary Ward, Dean Alan Johnson, Dean John Bergstresser, Dr. and Mrs. Joseph Axelrod, and Dr. John Hensil. Complimentary bids were also extended to Student Body President Burk Faraola; Junior Class President Andy Anderson; Junior Class President, Ted Abbott, and to Sophomore Class President Harry Redlick.

Senior Andy Ferrari will take photographs of desiring couples. The pictures, taken against a typical "Killarney" backdrop, will cost $1 with a student body card and $1.25 without.

"All who wish to make merry on St. Patrick's Day are welcome to 'Killarney,' the land of the Emerald Isles," Flynn announced.

Tickets, $1.80 a couple with student body card, and $2 without, were on sale in the basement of College Hall and by members of the freshman class this week. They will also be sold at the door tomorrow night.

Special Athletic Meeting April 6

Joe Verducci, director of athletics, has issued a call to all athletes to attend a special meeting on April 6 at the new campus gymnasium at 1 p.m.

Purpose of the meeting is to discuss the possibilities of deferments to students enrolling in the Marine Corps program. According to USMC plans, college students will be allowed to graduate from college. Upon graduation they will receive a commission.

Major J. G. Juett, USMC, will be the principal speaker, as he will discuss the various courses offered by the Marines.

Judicial Committee Proposes Measure To Cut Absences

Group Asks Attendance Survey Be Retaken Here

A meeting of the student judicial committee was held last Tuesday night, the main topic under discussion being the excessive absenteeism in classes. The committee chairman, Jack Wendt, and members Dick Coltrill, Bonnie Rolphe and Jerry Gartland made up a set of tentative recommendations which were discussed at a joint meeting of the faculty and student judicial committee yesterday.

The first recommendation made by the student group was that of having the attendance survey retaken, under the assumption that the previous poll may be inaccurate, as it was taken just prior to the Christmas holidays.

The last attendance check revealed that practically 20 per cent of the students were absent at one time, during the spot check on December 7 and 8.

The possibilities of using the orientation period of new students to advantage, stressing the need of regular attendance, was one aspect of the discussion. The group felt that the responsibility of the instructor to informing his students at the beginning of the term of the advantages of regular attendance was one step in the right direction.

The judicial group placed a great deal of the attendance problem on the shoulders of the instructors, under the assumption that it was very vital that the instructor keep his messages stimulating and challenging to the students. When a student passes a course without attending the class, the instructor is generally held to be at fault.

One of the main purposes of the attendance check is to determine which students have excessive absences early enough in the semester to enable the advisory and counseling staff to utilize their diagnostic and remedial services as effectively as possible.

The intent of the recommendations which have been made is to stress the positive value of regular class attendance and to approach the problem of excessive absence from a counseling point of view.

It also has been the intention of the committee to avoid an arbitrary and mechanical system of penalties for absences from classes and the assumption being that students attend college of their own volition, and may act as their own disciplinarian.

Methods of improving class attendance was also discussed by the group. Pop quizzes and roll call, participation groups were a few methods under discussion.

Campus Drive Aids Welfare Groups

Ed Simons, member of the board of directors, met with representatives from CARE, American Guide Dogs for the Blind, World Student Service Fund and the college Student Welfare Fund Wednesday. They discussed the distribution of the proceeds from the extensive Campus Chest drive, which will begin during the first week of April.

Simons will have the additional task of inaugurating a clothes drive for Korean War Relief. Jim Coltrill, member-at-large, will work with him.

According to Simons, "the program is designed to cover local, national and international charities." The publicity will be handled by Bill Hansen, activities commissioner, Norry Volk, activities coordinator, and the rally committee. They have tentatively planned a rally to create interest in the forthcoming event.

Easter Vacation Begins Thursday

With the mid-term point of the current semester near at hand, State students have more than the usual two-day Easter vacation to yearn for as a resting spot between now and final exams. This year the Asilomar conference for faculty members occurs immediately after Easter, thereby extending the holiday for State students by three days.

State will close for the annual Easter observance on Holy Thursday and Good Friday, March 22 and 23; Easter Sunday is March 25 this year. Classes have been canceled for March 26, 27 and 28, the three days directly following Easter, so that all teachers may attend the educational conference. This gives States 7 full days in all, and with even the library closed, terrifically increases the prospects for a brighter holiday.

GIANNINI TO APPOINT COMMITTEE

Seek Business Scholars

As guests of L. M. Giannini, the Board of Associates of the School of World Business held a meeting at the Bohemian Club last Monday night, March 12.

Highlight of the meeting was the agreement of the board that Giannini should appoint a committee to look into the possibilities of:

1. Providing 100 scholarships to the School of World Business.
2. Housing the School in a downtown location.
3. Providing supplementary funds to equip the School to grant masters degrees.
4. Taking steps to improve world industry, which in turn will improve world business.

Charles Wheeler, vice chairman of the Board, presided over the meeting of 23 members who attended.

The School of World Business became an integral part of San Francisco State College in September of 1949. Its two-fold purpose is to prepare young men and women for careers in international commerce, and to provide specialized and advanced training for those who have begun their careers in world trade, or in related business activity, such as shipping, aviation, banking, insurance, construction, engineering and communications. Because of San Francisco's dominant position on the Pacific Coast, the growth of Western industry, and the large volume of imported raw materials used in local industries, it was felt that San Francisco should provide the education, the experience, and the personnel to take advantage of her trade opportunities.

For this purpose, the State of California, in cooperation with business leaders and the San Francisco Chamber of Commerce, has established the School of World Business.

Graduates of the School will find interesting and profitable careers in such positions as export salesman, commodity specialists, foreign buyers, insurance specialists, foreign trade regulation specialists and administrative secretaries.

With further training, supplemented by experience, more responsible positions will beckon as assistant foreign trade manager, assistant foreign credit manager, assistant traffic and shipping manager, foreign office sales manager.

The curriculum of the School of World Business is offered to regular college students during their third and fourth years of collegiate study. Students in this group will receive the Bachelor of Arts degree upon satisfying the requirements of State. The two-year curriculum of the School has been built upon the two years of General Education at State or upon comparable work completed at another accredited institution.

After completing the general basic courses of the School students will then choose a field of specialization in one of the following: marketing, finance or transportation. Field work will be carried out in industries and business houses in the Bay Area under special arrangements between State and local firms.

In addition to choosing a field of specialization, the student will also pick a particular geographical area in order that he may develop an appreciation of the cultural differences between peoples in various parts of the world.

College Drama Bill Runs Today And Tomorrow

The first theatre production of the term, a bill of three one-act plays, continues tonight and Saturday in Frederic Burk auditorium, beginning at 8:30 p.m. The student-directed workshop opened last night.

"Pierre Patelin," directed by Merritt Mann, is a farce starring Miriam Scholtz, Ed Seriani, John Blauer, Stanton Keeney and Jack Barren. The serious part of the workshop is Dick Bailey's "The Intruder," with a cast of Dick Frewin, Brad Aronson, Dan Whiteside, Barbara Houghton, Ruth Carley, Shirley Strom and Audrey Postman.

The workshop is under the supervision of Mr. Clarence Miller, with Mr. J. Ivan Holm acting as technical director. Holders of "400" tickets are given preferred seats; these tickets sell for $1.00, the total admission price for all ten productions of the term. "400" and workshop tickets are now on sale at the AA12 boxoffice or may be purchased at the door.

Registration Help Given Tea Monday

Dr. J. L. Bergstresser, dean of student personnel, has announced that on Monday, from 3:30 to 5 in the activities room a tea will be held in honor of those students who donated their time during registration week by assisting with student body card sales, health examinations, registration committees and various other capacities during the initial week of school.

Dr. Bergstresser's office has sent out personal letters to those students, but his mailing list was supplied him by just a few people who worked on this program, and as a result, Dr. Bergstresser's list might be incomplete. He would appreciate it if those people who have not received a letter from him expressing his gratitude for their work would contact him and receive their just due.

A copy of the "thank you" letter will be put in the student's personnel folder for future reference.

Mayo Bryce Participates On Art Education Panel

Mayo Bryce of the college faculty will participate on a panel on art education presented by the San Francisco Women Artists at the San Francisco Museum on March 26 at 8 p.m.

Athletic Board Seeks Funds to Send Stars East

The Athletic Board early this week discussed a move whereby a champion San Francisco State wrestler and fencer would be sent to national tournaments in their respective sports.

With financial aid to come from the Block S, Wrestling Team, Fencing Team and Phi Epsilon Mu, the board proposed to send Joe Kimura, PCI champion wrestler to the National AAU meet in Pennsylvania, and Jerry Biagini, fencer, to the NCAA meet at the University of Illinois.

The wrestling meet will be held on Saturday and Sunday, March 24 and 25. The fencing tourney will be held Friday and Saturday, March 30 and 31.

Meanwhile, the Board of Athletic Control passed a resolution to have the Student Board of Control raise the necessary funds. Robert Katz, administrator of student affairs, said late yesterday that an estimated amount of $600 would be needed to send Kimura and Biagini East.

TRACK MEETS AT KEZAR

Katz further revealed that all Gator track team home meets will be held at Kezar Stadium until April 28. He declared that the condition of State's new campus track prevented running there until the April date. If State's track is not in shape for competition, the Far Western Conference championships will be moved to Davis, he said.

The athletic board also voted to enter the Pacific Association of the Amateur Athletic Union. Katz declared that this move will provide State with an opportunity to host regional meets and to enter PA tournaments.

Other developments arose when the board appointed football coach Joe Verducci to head State's athletic publicity. The board pledged him full support and Katz and Verducci were appointed to work on a full scale athletic publicity program.

Negotiations for a State-University of Hawaii football game next fall were halted when it was announced that Hawaii was unable to play the local gridgers.

Swimming Pool Opens For Student Recreation

The new swimming pool, situated at the new campus, is available for recreation use on the following days: Monday, 12:40-1:20; Tuesday, 12:40-1:20; not available Wednesday, Thursday, 12:40-1:20; and Friday, 1:40-3:00.

"We want to make use of this fine facility that we now have," says Miss Holtz.

Control Board Proposal For Old Title Rejected

The Board of Directors remained firm in its support of the new-born publication, Stateside, last Tuesday, by rejecting a Board of Control proposal to resurrect the name Franciscan, the title for the college annual.

On March 20, the board, on a motion presented by Activities

Commissioner Bill Hansen, gave the publication a vote of confidence with the stipulation that the name Franciscan or Trolley College were not to be used. Previously, Trolley College had been rejected by the Board of Control.

Then last Tuesday, Maurice Besse, representative from the Board of Control, read a letter addressed to the Board of Directors, requesting that the name Franciscan be reinstated and that an investigation be made looking into the financial aspect of Stateside.

LEWIS READS LETTERS

Ralph Lewis, business manager, then read two letters from Jack Wallace, one of the faculty advisors of Stateside. The first letter requested that the board abide by its original motion of not using the name Franciscan. Mr. Wallace pointed out that publicity releases using the name Stateside had been handed out as well as advertising rate cards using the name.

The second letter requested $300 so that some of the printing could be done with an outside printing agency. The present plan calls for the college printer, Jack Spann, to do all Stateside printing. Mr. Spann also does most of the work on the Golden Gate.

Bob Donovan, Stateside editorial board member, clarified Wallace's letters. "Don't sell Wallace short," he told the board. "He is an experienced man, having edited Scoop, a local magazine. He is very enthused about Stateside and his professional experience is welcomed."

Besse then commented that it would probably be very difficult to sell the book, and with the limited budget, the associated students couldn't afford to take a chance.

150 COPIES SOLD

Dagmar Dern, editor in chief of Stateside, announced to the board that over 150 copies of the publication had already been sold. Only 800 are needed to break even financially, Mrs. Dern revealed.

Member-at-large Bill Wuerch proposed to give the board a free hand. "It's not the board's position to determine policy," Wuerch commented.

Jack Healy, treasurer, came back with the statement that the board has a lot to say about the project since it's an associated students enterprise. "The board has a broader view on the cross-section of campus life than the journalism department," Healy added.

At this point Hansen made the comment that the Golden Gate bridge was built by architects, not by the body in control.

WORK TOGETHER

Healy held his ground and went on to say that both Stateside and the board should work together and that the board had good advice to give to the publication on student appeal. He doubted if the journalism department was so qualified.

Lewis then reminded the board that the problem at hand was the name of the publication.

Then Wuerch moved that the board stick to the original agreement; that of using any name but Franciscan.

The move was approved, 6-0. Board members Jack Healy, Sharon McDonnell and Pat Gilkeson abstained from voting.

The financial aspect of Stateside was referred to the Board of Control for further study.

Student Body Committee To Rehash Constitution

The constitution committee will meet some time during Easter week to straighten, strengthen and clarify the present constitution of the associated student body.

According to Miss Patricia Gilkeson, newly appointed head of the constitution committee.

Radio Guild Has Wide Range of Shows, Auditions

Members Attend Radio, TV Conference in L. A.

The Radio Guild of S. F. State has had a wide variety of activities already this semester. On its agenda have been a conference, auditions and new radio shows.

On March 2 and 3 State students and their instructor, William C. Dempsey, radio department head of the Creative Arts Division, attended a radio conference in Los Angeles. In attendance at this conclave were leaders of education in the television and radio industry. While in Southern California the State representatives visited several radio and television network shows.

Those attending the conference from State were Ed Dunbar, Dave McElhatton and Carl Switzer.

As a result of auditions held on February 27 and March 6 the Radio Guild has a group of new pledges. Those passing the acting audition were Flora Speigal, Craig Jackson, Edward Zeni, Mitchell Vezlich, Anne Hopps, Donn Landers, Exa Lengton, John Ginchich, Mary Alice Veacon, H. Allen Simms, Terry Rice, Shirley Storm, Don Van Noy and Brad Aronson.

The announcers who passed their auditions were Walter Kints, Vezlich, Landers, Karl Hurst, Roby Shull, Van Noy and Aronson.

Jack Anderson was the one person to pass the continuity audition.

Thursday from 12-1 the Guild puts on a "block show." This consists of four individual programs. One is the "Here's to Veterans" show which has been previously produced. A program called "Here's to State," written by Gloria Diamond and Robert E. Preble, presents the news events of the college.

Dean Berg's "Sports Desk" is a new airing of all sport occurrences. Aronson and Dick Orton have their "Music Den."

A 13 week series of 30-minute drama shows for radio will begin soon. The first tryout was last Tuesday. Two of the shows to be produced are "Spirit of '51" and "Hedda Gabler." The main emphasis will be on good writing and good literature.

A continuity staff has recently been organized. In charge of it is Larry Russell, assisted by Orton. The members of the staff are Aronson, Hurst, Switzer, Diamond, Berg, Preble and Jane Robertson.

News Policy Clarified

A red, white and blue "publication," the Able Petard, was circulated last Monday by the same newsboys that peddled the Prompter, a pro-loyalty oath news sheet, not so long ago.

The three page "publication" warns the students of San Francisco State College that they are about to be "pressured" into going on record, supporting a series of trumped-up proposals recently processed in Fresno. Apparently it refers to the recent conference held by the Federation For Repeal of the Levering Act, an off-campus organization.

The "publication" goes on to attack the anti-oath faction for not taking a stand on communism, despite the fact that the controversy is over the principle of the Levering Act, not communism.

Then the Able Petard continues on its lengthy 3100-word dissertation with the implication that the Golden Gater supported the anti-loyalty oath group, and that it attacked anti-communist forces, among other libelous charges. It was good enough, however, to grant that "at first, there was a glimmer of forthright policy on the student paper."

That policy still exists! Since there is no other official publication on the campus, the Golden Gater strives for unbiased, objective and factual journalism. The Golden Gater takes pride in its ability to present both sides to all issues and to publish opinionated editorials supported by facts. It supports no one, but supports the rights and interests of the students of the college.

Then the charge is made that the Golden Gater published unsigned editorials. As in all worthy newspapers, editorials reflect the opinions of the staff, not of one individual, and therefore, remain unsigned. The Golden Gater has a staff box on page two. The Prompter did not have a staff box. Its origin is still a little hazy, and their underworld reporters have yet to declare themselves.

The Able Petard, another "publication" which has decided to remain anonymous, continues its battle for "democracy" by name-calling, by using "guilt by association" techniques, by biased misinformation—in fact, by every underhanded method which it claims it opposes.

Pro or con, ethical journalism calls for factual reporting. The unknown publishers of the Able Petard have succeeded very well in handing out misinformation. Its facts are distorted to such an extent that they are ridiculous, asinine, and even comical. The files of the Golden Gater, which have the complete facts as to who is head of the FRLA, are open to anyone.

It is unfortunate that these misguided youths have the wrong concept of democracy—which supposedly advocates free expression, the very thing which the Able Petard attempts to stifle.

Actually, they are not worth an editorial. This editorial is mainly to clarify the Golden Gater's stand on controversial issues—that of objectiveness supported by facts.

As to the Able Petard people; all we can recommend is that they sign up for a few journalism courses and learn how to write.

Schroder Applies For Berkeley School Post

Donn Schroder, San Francisco State senior and music major, has applied as a candidate for the Berkeley School Director post.

Schroder is presenting a platform which includes emphasis on peace, the ending of "disaster" programs for the schools, fighting anti-loyalty oaths, increase salaries for teachers, adequate text books and an end to discrimination because of race, creed or nationality in the hiring of teachers.

THE FORE-KASTER

Bev Goes to the Ball

Well, "it" has come and gone—with no regrets but with many fond reflections. The inter-fraternity inter-sorority ball was everything its organizers hoped it would be, and perhaps more.

All sorts of parties and get-togethers took place before the Ball, everything from a spaghetti feed to cocktail parties—a good way to get an evening off to a warm start.

I don't believe any orchestra with any name could have done a better job than did Howard Fredrick's. The couples were floating, not dancing. You felt like a puppet who's strings were being pulled by the master musicians.

Have you ever seen so many pretty girls in one ballroom? There's something about a long dress that seems to transform the gal with the dirty saddles into a "dream."

DRAFT EVADERS, TOO

The fellows deserved a second look also, for they more closely resembled Prince Charmings than I thought possible. The athletes, the scholars, and draft-evaders all looked and acted the part of Sir Walter Raleighs.

One of the biggest events of the evening was seeing who was with whom, and yet doing it in a non-chalant manner. Confess: I was not the only guilty one. It was similar to a Homecoming affair to see so many ex-Staters return to their rightful place at a State triumph.

VICTORY SONG THRILL

Didn't your heart swell to realize you were dancing to State's Victory Song? If you weren't there you're probably asking what kind of a dance number could that possibly result in. The answer—it was the sweetest fox trot ever heard.

The bids and the ballroom, with all its balconies and coves, contributed to a gala affair with the organizations playing host to all State students. By the looks of the turnout, the invitation was warmly accepted.

Even the after-dance rush for coats and the dash to the Union Square Garage was worth doing. It was like playing a game to guess when your car would roll down the ramp and an even more difficult game to pretend your old jalopy was a twin to the '51 that pulled up beside it.

As the crowd dispersed in a million directions there was the hurrying to a cozy place for a thirst quencher before the 2 o'clock deadline and the lazy saunter home after an eventful evening.

Probably no dance at State has been talked about more than this one, so let's close the discussion by saying that the fraternities and sororities made a grand debut. May they do it again.

Student Recital at F. B. Feature Puccini, Wagner

By James McDonald

A small but appreciative audience gathered in the informal surroundings of the Frederic Burk Auditorium last Wednesday to hear the first of the 1951 student recitals.

Sponsored by the music department, the recital featured the works of Puccini, Caldara, Gunod, Duparc, Schumann, Wagner and Debussy.

The love and tragedy of the Latin Quarter of Paris, as pictured in the opera "La Boheme," started the program. Harriet Stewart, soprano, gave successful interpretations in two selections from this familiar work of Puccini.

Miss Stewart was followed by Vahan Toolajian, baritone, who sang pieces by Caldara and Gunod. For contrast these selections were followed by those of Debussy and Duparc, as sung by Tony Bafestrieri, tenor. Mr. Toolajian and Mr. Bafestrieri showed rare and promising qualities in their performances; they are both seniors.

Piano soloist of the evening was William Novales, who captured, with seemingly little difficulty, the sensitivity and contrast of a Beethoven sonata. He played Opus 27, Number 2 of "Moonlight."

The recital ended in a happy atmosphere brought about by the romance and quick tempo of songs by Schumann. Kathleen Kennedy, soprano, sang "Seit ich ihn gesehen" and "Er, der Herrlichste von Allen." Miss Kennedy recently won the Atwater Kent award for the bay area and will soon go to

Los Angeles where she will compete in final contests.

The next student recital will be held on May 14. There will be, however, a band concert on April 3 at the Fremont High School in Oakland. This is open to the public and will start at 8:00 o'clock. Due to the lack of space all band and orchestra concerts are held off campus.

Women's Faculty Club Meets Today

Dr. Wayne Stevens, director of the School of World Business here at State, will speak on Korea at the next meeting of the Women's Faculty Club today at 2 p.m. in the activities room.

Dr. Stevens has been in governmental work in the Far East for many years previous to coming to the college. During 1949-1950 he was Economic Commissioner for the Department of State in Korea. In the summer of 1950 he covered, by chartered plane, fifteen countries of the Far East, exploring the economic opportunities for new markets and new sources of supply for the State Department.

Next Monday President J. Paul Leonard will speak in San Diego at the annual meeting of the Western Division of the Musical Education National Conference, of which Dr. William E. Knuth is the president.

State Request For ROTC Program Sent to Washington

President J. Paul Leonard announced last week that State had forwarded a request to Washington for an ROTC training unit. An Air Force official, Colonel Coenen, has completed his inspection of the college and his report is now also in Washington.

Acceptance or non-acceptance should arrive from Washington by April 20. If the request is granted, a unit handling from 300 to 500 young men will be created and will be under the direction of the Air Force.

Many details of the proposed program are not known at present but as the plan is understood by college officials, the cadet would be allowed to select his own major and in addition, would take 24 units of ROTC. These 24 units could be in one of four fields: logistics, operation, controlship or in a technician field.

The cadet would receive from the government his clothing (uniform), and subsistence allowances. In addition to his classroom studies he would be required to spend a certain amount of time in drill at the new campus.

Although students enrolling under this proposed program would have to do so in their freshman year, several students now on campus were queried as to their opinions. It was pointed out that upon completion of the ROTC training, the student would be obligated to serve a period of three years in the Army as a commissioned officer.

This last-named qualification colored many of the answers. Most students have an automatic reaction whenever the term "Army" is mentioned although many do not have at hand any supporting logic to support this reaction.

One of the main arguments against the program was that the student entering college from high school was not adequately mature or well enough orientated to voluntarily obligate himself to such a long-term program. Whenever a student did not volunteer this point, he was deliberately asked about it and the response was almost universal.

It was agreed that the financial assistance offered was very tempting. Out of some 200 odd students who dropped out of school last semester, financial difficulty was given as the main reason. This is a real problem to a great many students on campus at the present time.

Several students stated that the plan was not unreasonable in any way. The government is asking students to enter the Army for three years at a comfortable rating in return for four years of education which they pay for. They also pointed out that the government is quite lenient on the number of courses they require. The main courses of study is left up to the student.

It must be kept in mind that very few students now on campus are eligible for the program so their comments and opinions are more in the role of "elder statesmen." It was interesting to note that once they had disposed of the superficial and automatic replies, they often gave rather advised answers indicating that they had been studying the whole proposal.

Stateside Offers Sports Coverage

Stateside officials revealed that most of the creative work for the magazine will be of general interest to the college during last Tuesday's board meeting.

In addition to the usual style of creative works, there will be a special article on State's athletic history and a feature on Kevin Duggan, State's outstanding basketball star.

Half of the magazine is devoted to creative writing while the remainder is composed of senior sections, organization sections, campus life sections and sports.

The magazine may be purchased for one dollar with a student body card and $1.50 without.

Dr. J. Paul Leonard attended a meeting of State College Presidents with State Legislators and members of State Colleges' Advisory board yesterday at Sacramento.

Gamma Sigma Pi Debate Today

Gamma Sigma Pi, the Humanities Club, will sponsor a debate between Dr. Joseph Axelrod, associate professor of humanities, and Dr. Carlo L. Lastrucci, associate professor of sociology, today at noon in the activities room.

The discussion will be based upon the validity of the historical approach in the study of modern society. Dr. Lastrucci will take the negative position, arguing that the techniques for evaluating the historical aspect of society are so diverse that they are rendered somewhat useless.

Dr. Axelrod will take a more positive position. The two faculty members will speak for the first half of the hour, after which they will invite discussion from the floor. All students are invited and are welcome to bring their lunches.

Well, our little taste of sunshine and summer sent a few enthusiasts out to the beach this week. The sun-deck was the scene of eager sun-tanners, while others received intellectual stimulation sprawled on the lawn.

Yes, the time is coming when instructors will begin to miss certain groups of students who take off to "study" at the beach.

Next week will provide a partial breather, a time when students can supposedly catch up on studies (etc.), and prepare for mid-terms.

Have a Happy Easter!

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Dear Editor:

I know not where to turn. When I first embarked upon a college career several years ago, everyone seemed to be intent upon but one thing—an education. Then suddenly they all became leaflet-happy.

At Cal the disease was particularly widespread. One had little difficulty in collecting an armful of literature during a one-block stroll from Sather Gate. But upon entering State last semester, I found an apparent concentration upon the theme—that of the "Anti-Oathers."

This seemed like a good deal, for by employing various stratagems, one could obtain egress from the campus without being offered a single pamphlet from the relatively few handbill men.

But now I find myself thwarted by a new clan of newsboys—the "Anti-Anti-Oathers." They have managed to ferret out my few remaining escape hatches and, once more heavily laden with the latest bipartisan scoop, I have caught myself throwing away term papers and book reports in lieu of the multi-colored publications.

Therefore, I propose a solution, directed to all who do not hold with that part of the American Collegiate Creed, which states that one really must belong to some organization, and I declare the ranks of the A.G.G. (Anti-Group-Group) open to any who would join. Meetings to be held individually or in groups at the member's favorite spa, at such times as he may happen to possess the price of a beer.

Thirstily, Don Thomas.

GATOR CINDER STAR

ALL-AROUND CHARLIE—Tomorrow when the Gator track team meets San Mateo JC and Marin JC in a three-way meet at Cox Stadium, one of the stars for State will be the old veteran, Charlie Parish. He excels in the sprints as well as in the hurdles, both highs and lows.

Track Squad Opens Season Against San Mateo, Marin

State's track team opens its official track season tomorrow in a three-way meet against San Mateo JC and Marin JC at Kezar Stadium.

No records are expected to be broken due to the fact that all the squads have been hampered in their training by bad weather.

Newcomers expected to do good in their first appearances for the Purple and Gold are Lionel Brown, All-City sprinter from Washington High School, and Burt Phillips, another sprinter via the East Bay.

Expected to pile up points for State will be many men returning from last year's Far Western Conference championship team. Among the returning veterans will be hurdlers Charlie Parish and Frank Walsh, both of whom placed in the FWC meet last year.

Also returning to the fold will be Bob Keropian, three times winner of the FWC broad jump championship, who will be trying for his fourth straight title in this event.

The distances will be handled by veterans Dave Vickers, Dale Sharpe and Lloyd Stoneking, along with CCSF transfer Aldo Pardini. Last year Stoneking started as a 440 man and later developed into one of State's best milers.

Last year's freshman sensation Len Posey is expected to place in the sprints, along with Parish.

The field events will be well represented by Steve Morger, George Shell, Bill Miller, George Von Arx, John O'Hare, Bruce Duncan, Ken Moy and Herb Franklin. Coach Ray Kaufman claims that Franklin will be one of the top five javelin throwers on the coast, if not in the nation.

Commenting on the season, Kaufman stated, "We're having the toughest schedule State has ever had by meeting four of the strongest dual teams in the nation—College of Pacific, California, Olympic Club and San Jose State." He also added that despite the fact that State lacks a strong dual team, the morale is high and the club, with some hard work, should again take the Far Western Conference.

The home schedule calls for meets with University of San Francisco, Southern Oregon, Humboldt, Santa Clara, College of Pacific and the FWC meet.

State's next meet is next week, when they meet the University of San Francisco at Kezar Stadium. —A. P.

An Irish Report On Irish Sports

By J. Michael Finnigan

It's been a long time since any of my stories appeared in this part time umbrella, but on St. Patrick's Day we should have some type of discussion on Irish athletics. So, I volunteered to furnish some of the grisly details.

As preparation for the task, I hustled out to the Polo Grounds last Sunday and caught a few glimpses of Gaelic mayhem. The first object that caught my eye was what appeared to be the uniform of the day, an empty fifth of cloud nine. The die was cast, somebody had been copping a quick one in preparation for the expected onslaught.

The first contest of the afternoon was a game of Gaelic football, which is almost the same as soccer, except that the Irish temper is a strong factor to be considered.

This tussle provided an hour's entertainment and, believe it or not, only one guy got dropped. Even Walt Pudlowski, State's biggest Irishman, came through unscathed, although somewhat upset after defeat.

Following the football came the finale of the day, a game known as Hurling. Now this meet is somewhat akin to war, except that war can be fun sometimes, and Hurling has a higher casualty potential.

There are 11 disgruntled Irishmen on each team and, according to my calculations, that adds up to an awful show of right hands, which on occasion are asserted in the direction of some guy's button.

Each man on the team is given a club, which looks somewhat like a hockey stick, but in the hands of an angry Celt it adds up to a fistful of Hydrogen bombs and demands more respect.

The object of the game, is to hit a little ball from one end of the field to the other and, if possible, to place same through a goal.

If in transit on the battleground a Harp happens to crease a cranium, the game is considered somewhat lively.

My father, who is more Irish than St. Patty ever dreamed, stoutly maintains that he has never seen a serious injury incurred in this debacle. I've never been one to doubt parental palaver, but it is said that letters are not given to collegiate Hurling players in Ireland, although high disability payments are meted out to the bearers of bent bones.

Duggan Picked to FWC Dream Team

The Far-Western Conference Conference last week announced that San Francisco State cage star Kevin Duggan was picked to the all-conference basketball team.

Two other local cagers were chosen to the second string dream team. They are Bob Liebe, who transferred to State from San Mateo Junior College, and Al Athanopoulos. Liebe was a mid-season transfer and arrived here in time to help spark the locals to their first FWC hoop title.

John Walsh and Al Desin were voted to honorable mention positions on the team.

FWC Fistic Finals Held Tonight

Broncs Hand Gators Second Defeat, 14-7

The Santa Clara Broncos handed State its second loss in a row by the nonprofessional score of 14-7 last Saturday afternoon on the new State campus.

Both clubs scored single runs in the second and then State poured on the coal.

A single by Benja Davis, a walk to "Hook" Arata, a nifty sacrifice by Lenny Cahen, Ernie Domecus' life by a miscue of the third sacker, a single by Chris Makras and a single by Neil Decker plus some aid by the enemy rightfielder who flung Decker's single over the catcher's head, enabled the Gators to spike mark home plate four times in the third.

However, the Broncos were not to be outdone and scored four themselves in rapid fashion immediately following State's spree. The Broncos must have liked this tune for in their next licks they scored four again, a splurge that was climaxed by Bill Fore's triple with the bags jammed. It was Earl "the kid" Clayton's misfortune to be pitching at the time the roof caved in. Ron "laughing boy" Kamb came on in the fifth and finished the contest for Dick Boyle's crew.

Tomorrow the club journeys to Sacramento to engage Sacramento State in a doubleheader starting at 1 p.m.

Fencers Nose Out California, 5-4

San Francisco State's fencing team copped the Gerlin Intercollegiate Conference last week-end by barely nosing out the University of California by a score of five bouts to four. Other schools competing included Washington State University, University of Santa Clara and the second teams from UC and State.

Jerry Biagini, undefeated in intercollegiate fencing, won the deciding matches, 5-1, 5-0 and 5-4. Other Staters on the winning team were Tony Gex and Wes Olson. State had its name, along with those of the participants, engraved on the Gerlin trophy.

Golfers Clash With Cal Poly In Southland

After dropping a 15-12 decision to Cal Poly last week on the Harding Park Course, San Francisco State's golf squad seeks to even up the series today when they clash with the Gauchos in San Luis Obispo.

The Cal Poly match represents the Gators' second game on a 13-game schedule that runs to April 26. Following their final dual match the locals vie for their fifth consecutive Far-Western Conference championship on May 4 and 5.

Captain Art Crebassa leads the club as number one man. He is followed by Bob Moniz, a freshman. Coach Guido deGhetaldi declared last week that both players shoot a par game.

Joe Willis and Dick Cotrell are battling it out for the number three spot on the golf ladder, deGhetaldi said. Jim Cotrell holds down the fifth spot, while the number six place is still wide open. Further information from deGhetaldi revealed that aspirants to the team should contact him.

The local schedule follows:

March 22—Cal Aggies, at Woodland.

March 23—Chico, there.

March 29—St. Mary's, at Harding Park.

April 3—Santa Clara, there.

April 5—S. F. Police, at Harding.

April 10—USF, at Harding.

April 12—Cal Aggies, at Harding.

April 17—Chico, at Harding.

April 19—Santa Clara, at Harding Park.

April 24—St. Mary's, at Richmond.

April 26—USF, at Harding.

May 4 and 5—Far Western Conference championship games.

Chico Favored to Win Team Title; Gators to Furnish Stiff Opposition

Finals of the Far Western Conference Boxing Championships will be held tonight at Chico. Teams participating are host Chico State, Southern Oregon, Cal Aggies and S. F. State. Chico is favored to win the team title, but the Gators could offer the stiffest opposition.

Coach Bob Robinett announced that San Francisco would enter men in all weights except the 165 and 175 lb. divisions. The team is in top condition and eager to take the championship away from Chico. Boxing, as well as other sports, has felt the effect of the Korean war, Chico being the only school expected to enter a full squad this year.

Six fighters will make the trip north with coaches Robinett and Danny Martin. Managers Fred Clark and Hal Ruby will accompany the team also. Last year nearly fifty loyal Gator rooters journeyed up to Chico, where Ted Abbott and John Fisher won titles for San Francisco.

The two most experienced men on the Gator squad are John Bohman 145, and Bob Kaffke 135. Bohman is entered in a well loaded division and will probably have to get by Chico's Dick Hoffman to win the title. He combines ring generalship with a powerful left hook in his attack.

Kaffke will have to defeat the returning champion, Bernie Callahan of Cal Aggies, in the lightweight division. In his recent bouts Kaffke has gained confidence and poise, plus a fast third round finish. Callahan will have to be at his best to defeat the up-coming Gator.

Steve Genis, 125, assumes the role of darkhorse in the tournament and may actually have the best opportunity of winning. Having tasted victory against Chico's Bucky Strong, Genis is hungry for a title.

In the 130 lb. division John Fawcett will be a strong contender for that title. Fawcett is in his best condition and determined to win.

Fresh from the basketball courts is hard hitting Gly Mayfield, in the 155 pound class. Mayfield has not had any bouts this season, but will be in there fighting for a title.

Heavyweight Don Chabot will unlimber his big guns in quest of reversing an early season loss to Chico's O. T. McAttee.

State's boxing team tied Chico State in its last outing. Actually the Gators won more bouts but had two forfeited. Since then the Gators have come a long way in improvement.

Kimura Wins PCI Wrestling Title

Joe Kimura, State's pint-sized king of the grapplers, continued his winning ways last week-end when he captured the Pacific Coast Intercollegiate wrestling championship in the 123 pound division. The tournament was held at the University of Washington in Seattle.

Kimura began his bid for the title Friday night when he subdued Oregon State's "Red" Rose in 26 seconds of the third period.

Saturday he copped the title by pinning both opponents in his two matches. He pinned the University of California's Bill Perry in the second period and then did the same to Joe Ichikawa of San Jose State in the championship match.

Kimura, who rates as State's all-time wrestler and one of the top men in intercollegiate wrestling circles, may compete in the nationals to be held at Raleigh College in Pennsylvania on March 23.
